

The Silent Girl

Sasha Prohuska

I see a girl every day, she's in my class.

Her name is Mary.

She never talks unless a question is asked, but it never lasts.

When I bring up the subject of her with my friends.

All they can talk about is her beauty.

Her dark hair, ocean blue eyes, and fashionable clothes.

I wish I could look like that.

But what I wonder about is, what's on the inside.

She's quite the mystery that I'd like to solve.

What makes her happy, what makes her mad?

But alas, I'm too shy.

So I just sit there and stare.

Wondering about what's inside.